WHO ARE WE?

KALAMAKI is a tribute to our heritage. A link to our past and unforgotten ties to Greece.

We offer traditional style Greek street food. Juicy skewers, and mouthwatering souvlaki pita. Kalamaki is for everyone – easy, approachable and always fun.

What is Kalamaki?

KALAMAKI or ‘little reed’ is a synonym for souvlaki in Athens. It is a word used which helps to differentiate it from other types of souvlaki.

For KALAMAKI, the meat is cubed into small chunks, marinated overnight in lemon juice and olive oil along with Greek herbs. Then it is skewered on wooden skewers - aka ‘little reeds’ aka Kalamaki - before being cooked.

The menu doesn't just stop at the sticks! At KALAMAKI we also offer souvlaki pita and a range of chips and salads. From traditional to some of our own modern concoctions, there is plenty here for everyone.

All of our food is fresh and prepared daily. We marinate and prepare our skewers by hand, to ensure you are eating fresh meats that are full of flavour.

Although we specialise in take-away, our venue is a light filled space to make yourself at home in.

Kalamaki is the place to come, relax and chat with friends and family.
